City of Hamburg –
Calling at the smartPORT

The Port of Hamburg, situated right in the heart of the city, is Europe's second largest container port.

Hamburg's 1.8 million residents share a close bond with "their" port. And they are not the only ones who love the city and its port. The very special ambience of this unique harbour metropolis, where guests find a multitude of shopping opportunities, sightseeing options and cultural offers, attracts more visitors each year.

Hamburg

Jens Meier, Chairman of the Management Board

The Hamburg Port Authority (HPA) is in charge of 300 kilometres of rail tracks, close to 150 bridges, over 120 kilometres of public roads, roughly 50 kilometres of quays and embankments as well as tunnels, locks and lighthouses.

The Hamburg Port Authority is the host, organiser and promoter of the 29th IAPH World Ports Conference 2015.

The management board and the staff of the HPA are excited to be your host. Not only will we address topics of global concern such as safety and security, ecology, port financing and macroeconomic challenges, but we will also deliver interesting insights into Hamburg's smartPORT concept.

The concept combines two key components - energy and logistics. The overall aim is to become independent of conventional energy sources by switching to renewables. This energy transition will be underpinned by logistics concepts that will make trade flows between the quay and the hinterland yet more efficient.

smartPORT – where present and future come together

As the global alliance of the world port community the International Association of Ports and Harbors (IAPH), headquartered in Tokyo, Japan, represents more than 200 ports from 90 nations.

The 29th IAPH World Ports Conference will take place in Hamburg from June 1-5, 2015. The week-long conference is the premier event of the global port industry, featuring top-notch speakers whose lectures will cater to

- some 1,000 international delegates.
- top-level executives from the international maritime industry, international port authorities and associations.
- high-level representatives from the logistics industry.

In addition to the conference sessions there will be an attractive social programme to give participating guests the opportunity to explore the beautiful Hanseatic City of Hamburg and learn more about the culture and customs of their host country.
